Emerging role for the resources satellite	3
Burning question in the Snowy	12
Keeping tabs on our birds	18
Outlook—Air outback; clean but not virginal	23
Spectrum—Methane gas from meatworks waste —Bird fossils hint at the past	27
Growing native grasses in urban parks	29
Back box—Bringing back the bush	32

Ecos describes CSIRO research findings of relevance to our environment. Related findings by other bodies are included where necessary to give perspective to CSIRO work.

Stories are based on reports, published research papers, and information obtained by interviewing scientists.

Technical inquiries should be sent to the CSIRO Divisions concerned. All other correspondence should be addressed to: Senior Writer, Ecos, P.O. Box 225, Dickson, A.C.T. 2602.

Subscriptions to Ecos: $4.00 a year for four copies, post-free. Cheques should be sent to CSIRO Editorial and Publications Service, P.O. Box 89, East Melbourne, Vic., 3002. Organizations with environmental interests may apply to be placed on our free mailing list.

The two quarterlies Ecos and Rural Research and the bi-monthly Industrial Research News are produced by a writing group in CSIRO's Science Branch at Head Office.

Writing group: Brian Woodruff (senior writer), Andrew Bell, Kay Hindmarsh, Brian Lee, Robert Lehane, and James Lumbers.

Editorial assistance: Yvonne Roberts.

Designer: John Wedlick.

Credits: The freelance writers Jane Ford and John Stackhouse also contributed to this issue. Pictures from Australian Information Service, Peter Fullagar, Frank Ingwersen, Ederic Slater, and Colin Totterdell. All other pictures came from the scientists and organizations mentioned in the stories.
